

WHO'S WHO AT THE SHOW

According to Piers Brown, founder of Fractional Life, “A visit to the Expo will show there’s something for everybody – be it a fractional property / boat / supercar membership or a small ‘investment’ in a potential pop star or feature film. There’s also something for the ladies – fractional handbag club memberships!”

The exhibitors will be divided into ‘zones’ based on the type of goods they provide. These zones will be Property, Motoring, Sea, Air and the catch-all category of Lifestyle, which encompasses everything from fine wines to those unmissable handbags. So, which companies will be at the show? Here are some of the exhibitors confirmed so far:

Oceanico Group is the title sponsor of the Expo. It specialises in luxury Portuguese properties with excellent access to golf, beach and leisure facilities.

Foreign Property Ventures Ltd is the show’s gold sponsor. It focuses upon unique property investments across the globe, such as the Moditlo Eco Lodge in South Africa’s Greater Kruger National Park.

écurie25 provides access to a fleet of elite supercars. Its hot models from Ferrari, Audi and Lamborghini come straight out of every motor enthusiast’s wildest dreams.

The Owners Club International offers a range of fractional ownership properties selected on the basis of stringent holiday home criteria. Its residences are located in Europe, the US and the United Arab Emirates.

Boat Associates has the co-ownership of luxury motorboats as its slice of the market. These speedy vessels are a great way to explore idyllic remote islands in the Mediterranean.

